Mar 04, 2015(Small Dead Animals: http://www.smalldeadanimals.com/ Delivered by Newstex) <nl/> Three years ago the thin-skinned wizard of Penn State let everyone in the world know in the clearest possible terms that his version of climate science is not a process of discovery based on research and new information, but a proselytizing mission[1]:<nl/> Climate scientist Michael Mann, who has appeared at political events supporting candidates calling for the U.S. government to act more forcefully, said in 2011, "I gave up on Judith Curry a while ago. I don't know what she thinks she's doing, but it's not helping the cause."<nl/> (emph. mine)<nl/><nl/>Why is his work still being cited by warmists? When a scientist who touts an unproven theory denounces as heretical those who continue to do honest research, no scientist, regardless of his views, should ever take him seriously.<nl/> [1]: http://watchdog.org/203008/climate-scientists-mccarthyism/
